

Publications

Monograph

- 1 Heinzelmann, N. (2023): Weakness of will and delay discounting, Oxford: Oxford University Press.

Edited collection

- 2 Heinzelmann, N. (2024): Advances in neurophilosophy, London: Bloomsbury.

Peer-reviewed journal articles

all available at <https://philpeople.org/profiles/nora-heinzelmann>

- 3 Heinzelmann, N. (2022): "Rationality is not coherence", The Philosophical Quarterly.
- 4 Heinzelmann, N., & Tran, V. (2022): "Extremists are more confident", Erkenntnis.
- 5 Küchenhoff, S., Doerflinger, J. & Heinzelmann, N. (2022): "The Genetic Technologies Questionnaire: Lay judgments about genetic technologies align with ethical theory, are coherent, and predict behaviour", BMC Medical Ethics 23:54.
- 6 Heinzelmann, N. & Hartmann, S. (2022): "Disagreement and confidence change", Synthese 200: 1–13.
- 7 Heinzelmann, N. (2021a): "Compensation and moral luck", The Monist 104: 251–64.
- 8 Heinzelmann, N., Höltgen, B. & Tran, V. (2021): "Moral disagreement boosts confidence in moral judgements", Philosophical Psychology 34.
- 9 Heinzelmann, N. (2020): "Conflicting judgments and weakness of will", Philosophia 49: 255–69.
- 10 Heinzelmann, N., Weber, S., & Tobler, P. (2020): "Aesthetics and morality judgments share cortical neuroarchitecture", Cortex 129: 484–95.
- 11 Heinzelmann, N. (2018a): "Deontology defended", Synthese 195(12): 5197–216.
- 12 Heinzelmann, N., Ugazio, G., & Tobler, P. (2012): "Practical implications of empirically studying moral decision-making", Frontiers in Neuroscience 6(94): 1–14.

Among the 5% most-read articles of this journal

Invited

- 13 Heinzelmann (forthcoming): "Review of Hossein Dabagh's The Moral Epistemology of Intuitionism", Philosophical Psychology
- 14 Heinzelmann, N. (2024): "Précis von Weakness of will and delay discounting" ("Precis of Weakness of will and delay discounting") and "Repliken auf Patricia Rich und Philipp Brüllmann" ("Replies to Patricia Rich and Philipp Brüllmann"), Zeitschrift für philosophische Forschung 78 (2)

- 15 Heinzlmann, N. (2021b): "Vom Sollen zum Sein" ("From Ought to Is"), in: G. Karageorgoudis & J. Noller (eds): Sein und Sollen ("Ought and Is"), Paderborn: Mentis, pp. 199-220.

Blog posts

- 16 Heinzlmann, N. (2019a): "Die Moralpsychologie bioethischer Urteilsbildung" ("The moral psychology of bioethical decision-making"), Blog "Praefaktisch", <https://www.praefaktisch.de/experimentelle-philosophie/bioethische-urteile/> (accessed 16 July 2019)
- 17 Heinzlmann, N. (2019b): "Delay discounting and weakness of will", symposium with Julia Haas, Neil Levy, Chandra Sripada et al., Brains Blog,
<http://philosophyofbrains.com/2019/01/07/> (accessed 18 February 2019)
- 18 Heinzlmann, N. (2018b): "Motivation and control", Brains Blog,
<http://philosophyofbrains.com/2018/04/30> (accessed 18 February 2019)